COLLECTION DESCRIPTION

The Koreshan Unity Papers collection consists of original writings, letters, photographs, and other organizational and personal records of founders and members of the Koreshan Unity. The collection documents the economic and cultural development of southwest Florida; the relationship between religion and community; the Koreshans' methods of integrating concepts of science into their religious cosmology and cosmogony; the Koreshans' sometimes tumultuous relations with surrounding communities; and major leadership roles of women in a community whose belief system included equality of the sexes. The collection also provides valuable documentation of the overall history and development of millennial communities and communal utopias in the United States in the middle- to late-19th century into the early 20th century.

The collection includes correspondence among Koreshans and between them, outside relatives, and others. In addition to papers of Koreshan Unity founder Cyrus Teed ("Koresh"), the collection includes papers of key early members who formed the nucleus of Koreshan organization, community, and culture; member writings and tracts on cosmogony, cellular cosmogony, science, religion, philosophy, horticulture, and other topics reflecting the beliefs and ideas of the community and their methods of integrating concepts of science into their religious cosmology and cosmogony; histories of member families and the organization; and administrative and operational records of the organization, from early constitutions and other foundation documents to minutes, correspondence, and business and financial records. Photographic prints and glass plate negatives in the collection document the early development of Koreshan life and beliefs and the lives and activities of Koreshan members; of particular note are photographic images of Cyrus Teed's body after his death as his followers awaited his resurrection. Organizational and administrative records provide evidence of the organization, growth, and development of the Koreshan Unity as a religious, scientific, business, and social community. A great deal of material relates to the Koreshans' cultural life, including personal correspondence about daily life, recipes, scripts for shows written and performed by members, and both original and commercial sheet music dating back to 1898.

The collection is organized into nine series as described and listed below.

DESCRIPTIVE FOLDER LIST

SERIES 1: PHOTOGRAPHIC FILES, ca. 1887-1990, 10 cubic ft.

Boxes 1-22

The photographic files contain thousands of photographs in the following formats: prints, postcards, 35MM negatives, glass plate negatives, lantern slides, and 35MM slides. The Koreshans developed an extensive and rich collection of photographs documenting the early development of Koreshan life and beliefs and the lives and activities of Koreshan members spanning the life of the organization. In addition to portraits of Cyrus Teed and his family prior to the Koreshan years, images in the collection depict Koreshan members and headquarters in Chicago; development of the Koreshan Unity settlement in Estero, including gardens, the Bamboo Landing, residence buildings, the Art Hall, the Dining Hall, and other facilities; Koreshan activities such as plays, concerts, and festivals; and notable visitors including Thomas Edison and Henry Ford. Of particular note are images of Cyrus Teed and other early founder and leaders; Koreshans with the Rectilineator used to demonstrate the concave nature of the earth's surface; Teed's body after his death as his followers awaited his resurrection; and the aftermath of the hurricanes of 1921 and 1926.

SERIES 2: ADMINISTRATIVE FILES / SUBSERIES A: FOUNDATIONAL DOCUMENTS, ca. 1887-1995, 3.08 cubic ft.

Boxes 23-29

The Foundational Documents subseries is comprised of records documenting the formal establishment of the Koreshan Unity and its continuation from the late nineteenth through the twentieth century. Arranged alphabetically by topic and then chronologically, the Foundational Documents include, but are not limited to, annual reports, board of directors meeting files, by-laws, constitutions, and minutes. Of particular interest to researchers are the board of director files and minutes. Both provide an understanding of the focus of Unity operations at each specific point in their history as well as the larger shifts over the Unity's creation, expansion, maturation, and decline.

SERIES 2: ADMINISTRATIVE FILES / SUBSERIES C: CORRESPONDENCE FILES, ca. 1896-1989, 3.25 cubic ft.
Boxes 39-42

The correspondence files are divided into two subgroups, the first arranged alphabetically by the creator's last and then first name, and the second arranged alphabetically by topic. Although there is no indication of what the original order of these records might have been, the current arrangement reflects the organizational scheme imposed by later Koreshan Unity administrators, who enclosed the correspondence in envelopes with titles indicating a name or subject.

The correspondence subseries provides a sense of the administrative sphere of the Unity. It shows the wide range of contacts that the Unity had as well as main areas of interest. Letters written by the Scientific and Geodetic Staff are of particular note. Responsible for the Koreshan Unity Geodetic Survey that Koreshans believed provided proof of the Earth's concavity, Staff correspondence discusses progress and findings as they traveled and tested the Rectilineator on Florida's Gulf Coast at Naples. Also of note are the various inquiry letters. While most pertain to Koreshan publishing efforts, these inquiry files give a sense of frequently asked questions and concerns from both members and the outside community.

Boxes 43-71

Organized by topic and then arranged either chronologically or alphabetically depending upon the nature of the record, the financial records document accounting, general transactions, payroll, stock, and taxes. From the outset, the Koreshan Unity recognized the importance of maintaining their records. The size and content of this subseries are testament to that role. The accounting records are arranged by year and consist mainly of Unity banking documents and cumulative financial reports. The general transaction files are arranged by year and include bills, receipts and invoices. The payroll and tax records are arranged by year and give a sense of the business aspects of the Unity. Of particular note are the stock files, which include agreements, meeting notes, stock holder lists, correspondence, external stock investments, and bound stock volumes. Taken together, these records provide a comprehensive view of the Unity as an American corporation.

SERIES 2: ADMINISTRATIVE FILES / SUBSERIES E: LEGAL RECORDS, ca. 1897-1988, 2.03 cubic ft.
Boxes 72-76

Organized by topic and then arranged either chronologically or alphabetically depending upon the nature of the record, the legal records reflect court cases, copyright, attorney fees, insurance, and last will and estate records. This subseries gives a good idea of the corporate side of the Unity. The Koreshans dealt with many different business ventures, owned hundreds of acres of land, and maintained the health and wellbeing of Unity members. These and other activities required legal action and documentation. The large amount of insurance papers and attorney fees are testament to this. Also, court case files give a detailed view of the Koreshan Unity's legal conflicts. More than once, tension between former Koreshan Unity members culminated in a court case. Often times issues of equal treatment and personal property fueled disputes. Issues of land ownership proved to be another contributing factor.

SERIES 2: ADMINISTRATIVE FILES / SUBSERIES F: PROPERTIES AND LAND RECORDS, ca. 1888-1990, 13.11 cubic ft. Boxes 77-97

The Properties and Land Records are first organized by topic and then arranged either chronologically or alphabetically depending upon the nature of the record. Topics reflect the nature of the record groupings found when the collection was in an unprocessed state and include: Abstract of Titles, Appraisals, Bonita Beach, Buildings, Contracts, Correspondence, Deeds, Estero Island, Highway 41, Location Certificates, Maps, Mound Key, Mortgages, Post Office, State Park, and Survey Records. Though most of the groups of records within this subseries are easily explained in name and function, two require additional description.

Highway 41: While Highway 41 is state owned and operated, it runs right up against Unity property. Its presence, especially during the 1970s when the Florida Department of Transportation wanted to either widen or re-direct the right of way, created discussions and arguments among all affected. This is evident in the correspondence, injunctions, and newspaper files within the subseries.

State Park: In 1961, after years of collaboration, the Unity deeded approximately 300 acres to the State of Florida. This "Gift to the People," as Koreshan President Hedwig Michel deemed it, aligned with Koreshanity's fundamental values of education, environmentalism, and preservation. The advancement, correspondence, report, and tourist materials within this portion of the Properties and Land subseries provide insight to the development of the Koreshan State Historic Site.

SERIES 2: ADMINISTRATIVE FILES / SUBSERIES G: KORESHAN STORE RECORDS, ca. 1904-1963, 3.45 cubic ft.
Boxes 98-103

The Koreshan Store Records are arranged alphabetically by topic and include financial, inventory, license, and Riverview Inn papers. Together, these records document the Koreshan Unity owned and operated store. The majority of this subseries is comprised of financial documents. General transaction and sales tax records show much of what went into running a small privately owned store. Built in 1894, the store took advantage of its convenient location close to the Estero River. Used primarily as a general store for customers in the area, it also housed a restaurant, the Riverview Inn, in the mid 20th century.

SERIES 2: ADMINISTRATIVE FILES / SUBSERIES I: PIONEER EDUCATION FOUNDATION RECORDS, 1894-1981, 0.25 cubic ft.
Box 110

The Pioneer Education Foundation Records are arranged alphabetically by topic. In 1972, the Unity incorporated the Pioneer Education Foundation in Florida, a non-profit offshoot of the Koreshan Unity primarily dedicated to services promoting lifelong learning. The organization was also designed to oversee remaining Koreshan property, stocks, and other holdings. The subseries documents the curriculum, lectures, and membership of the foundation. Of particular importance are the Pioneer University files, a turn of the twentieth century version of the Pioneer Education Foundation. These papers show the level of importance given to education by the early Koreshans.

SERIES 2: ADMINISTRATIVE FILES / SUBSERIES J: SUBJECT FILES, ca. 1900-2006, 1.45 cubic ft.

Boxes 111-114

Arranged alphabetically by topic, the subject files contain many different types of records. The majority of the subject files include processing and research done both by Florida Gulf Coast University and various individuals. In the mid 2000s, FGCU conducted a project in order to better understand the Koreshan Unity Papers. The main goal was to address and begin to remedy the disorganization of the collection. Beyond University related work, research papers are also prevalent within the subject files. The papers each focus on a certain aspect of the Koreshan Unity's history.

SERIES 3: HEDWIG MICHEL FILES, ca. 1920-1982, 20.72 cubic ft.
Boxes 115-147

The Hedwig Michel Files Series is comprised of 4 subseries: Correspondence, Financial, Legal, and Subject Files. Although the majority of the Koreshan Unity Papers' original order has been lost, much of Michel's files have retained their filing scheme. This series of boxes was contained and separated from all other portions of the collection, possibly a result of its more recent creation in Estero. While the vast majority of this series is in English, there are portions in German and French. When this is the case, it is noted in the folder listings. All subseries are described below.

SERIES 3: HEDWIG MICHEL FILES / SUBSERIES A: CORRESPONDENCE, ca. 1920-1982, 5.83 cubic ft.
Boxes 115-122

The correspondence files are divided into two subgroups, the first arranged alphabetically by the creator's last and then first name, the second arranged chronologically within date ranges. The current arrangement reflects the organizational scheme imposed by later Koreshan Unity administrators, who enclosed the correspondence in envelopes with titles indicating a name, subject, or date.

The correspondence subseries provides a sense of the personal and administrative life of former Unity member, secretary, and President Hedwig Michel. It shows the wide range of contacts that Michel made and maintained throughout her life. For Michel's ties to professional organizations and local causes, the Florida Audubon Society, American Red Cross, and Chamber of Commerce files may be of interest. Of particular note, from a personal perspective, are the correspondence files of Michel's husband, Joseph Levi, documenting part of her life before the Koreshan Unity. Correspondence files titled "German Reparations to Jewish Peoples" and "Unidentified" are wholly written in German.

The Subject Files are arranged alphabetically by subject. The subseries includes a vast range of materials and is testament to the myriad hobbies and areas of interest held by Michel. The largest subject files include education, horticulture, and membership related files. Newspaper clippings are prevalent within the subseries as well, owing to Michel's continuous monitoring of local newspapers for Estero and Koreshan Unity write-ups. As an avid writer of articles for newspapers and magazines, Michel produced a large collection of personal writings as well. Most detail local horticulture subjects and Unity history. Also of interest are Michel's German-language files. While the content of these files is not fully understood, it remains clear that they document Michel's life before the Unity and her continued ties to her first home.

SERIES 4: MEMBER FILES, ca. 1874-1985, 28.96 cubic ft.

Boxes 148-241

The Member Files are arranged alphabetically by last name. When the creator or accumulator of the records was not discernible, the files were placed under "Unidentified" and were then arranged by record type. Evidence of earlier processing efforts is clear within a portion of the member correspondence where letters had been indexed, transcribed, and placed within binders separated by the member that collected them. This arrangement has been preserved and has been described as “bindered correspondence” at the box level.

Daily life is captured within the correspondence, manuscripts, and the various other personal papers of Koreshan members. At the Unity's height, it is estimated that there were upwards of 200 members in Estero. Many individuals and families shaped the history of the Koreshan Unity, but only a portion of their records remain within the Koreshan Unity Papers. In the Andrews, Bubbett, Silverfriend, and Rahn member files, researchers will find a wide range of materials that detail the Koreshan way of life. Of note are the diaries and journals of Virginia Andrews and Claude Rahn. Both will give readers a more personal sense of the Unity.

The Koreshan Literature files are arranged alphabetically by title and are a great resource for researchers interested in the Unity's religious and scientific ideology.

Boxes 247-308

Arranged by title and then chronologically, the Koreshan Periodicals are comprised of all of the newspapers and journals created by the Unity. Included within this subseries are The Guiding Star and its 1889 successor, The Flaming Sword. Both publications focused on Koreshan ideology. In 1906, political conflicts between Fort Myers citizens and the Koreshan Unity lead to the publication of The American Eagle. As their most widely known periodical, The American Eagle's initial focus centered around local and national political issues. Over the years, the newspaper shifted from political affairs to Florida horticulture. In addition to the three prominent Unity periodicals, this subseries includes The Plowshare and Pruning Hook, published by San Francisco-based Koreshans, and The Salvator and Scientist, published by Allegheny-based Koreshans.

Boxes 309-318

The General Publications are those collected by the Koreshan Unity. The majority of the articles, pamphlets, and books included within this subseries date to the mid-twentieth century. With subjects ranging from Florida history and current events to religion, the general publications give some perspective to general reading habits of the Koreshans. Of particular interest are the periodicals and tracts created by the Order of Theocracy, an off-shoot of the Koreshan Unity stationed in Fort Myers. The General Publications are arranged alphabetically by title.

SERIES 6: EVENT FILES, ca. 1888-1989, 8.5 cubic ft.

Boxes 319-329

This series consists of event-specific files and plays. The event-specific files are arranged alphabetically and include programs, readings, and souvenirs that correspond to the event. Of particular interest are the Solar and Lunar Festival files. The Solar Festival honored Cyrus Teed's birthday (October 18, 1839) and was held yearly in mid-October. The Lunar Festival was a mid-April gathering that commemorated the birth of Annie G. Ordway (Victoria Gratia). The Solar and Lunar Festivals were celebrated both in Chicago and Estero, and the files provide insight into the social aspects of the Unity from its early stages to the late 1980s.

The plays are arranged alphabetically by title. The files include a wide range of scripts, script edits, and musical accompaniment used by the Unity for entertainment throughout their history. Some of the plays were created by Koreshan members, while others are mainstream productions. The plays cover a myriad of subjects, ranging from historical reenactments of the Koreshan Unity to popular culture and politics.
